The COVID-19 pandemic has affected local farms and food systems.

The main areas of farming that have been affected are farming operations, customer base, technology, and food system structure.

The aim of this study is to motivate citizens to rethink their food sources and restructure our food systems.

December 2nd, Online, 4:30PM-7:30PM