Spring Quarter topic: Corporate Sustainability: Nordstrom Case Studies

Sustainability Studio is a project-based course where teams of 3-5 students collaborate to gather and analyze data to help clients make sustainability decisions around the University of Washington and the greater Seattle area. Projects are based on client needs but have previously included communication, assessment, reporting, and development of recommendations. Sustainability Studio allows students to gain experience working with clients and to improve the state of sustainability in our community, all while learning about efficient and effective project design and management.

The Spring quarter of Sustainability Studio will focus on Corporate Sustainability through Nordstrom Case Studies. Throughout the quarter students will learn about the challenges and opportunities of addressing sustainability in the corporate sector. All projects for this quarter will be hosted by Nordstrom, with projects focusing on different aspects of corporate sustainability.
